Tea And Coffee Now On Ration List

Tea and coffee drinkers got a jolt out of the blue Sunday when the radio announced that both these beverages had been placed on the ration list, and the allowable amount per person was sufficient for about 12½ cups a week. The ration is 1 oz. of tea or 4 ounces of coffee per person per week. It was made very plain, that people would have to choose which one they would drink, they could have either one, but not both, and no tea or coffee will be allowed for children under 12 years of age.

The row of coupons bearing A. B. C. D. E., at the top of the sugar ration card will be used for tea or coffee until a permanent ration book is issued in September. One coupon entitles the holder to one ounce of tea or 4 ounces of coffee. They may all be used once to buy the full amount of the beverage at one time. The authorities recommend that this be done as it will save a great deal of packaging on the part of the grocers across Canada, and there is very little deterioration of tea or coffee if kept in good containers. Grocers recommend that only the better grades of coffee be purchased as they give more cups per pound than the cheaper grades, some nearly twice as much. The same is true of tea to an extent.

People staying at a restaurant or hotel for more than a week, must give their coupon to the proprietor if they drink tea or coffee, and no more than one cup of either beverage may be served with a meal.

There was no intimation of rationing in these lines until Sunday when the announcement was made so that all across Canada, tea and coffee were sold on ration Monday morning, and those who had none on hand started on rations the first of the week. So far no curtailment has been placed on coffee substitutes, which are quite largely sold and if these are left open, it may result in quite an increase in their sale.

Geo. O'Brien and family of Kindersley, Sask., are spending their holidays with relatives and friends in Raymond and district.

DORIS DUNLOP

This vivid and vivacious lady lives in Halifax, hails from the West, sings "Songs at Eventide" for audiences with relatives and friends on the CBC coast to coast network Saturday at 6.30 p.m. CDT (5.30 p.m. MDT). The programme is heard over station CBK, Watrous. She has been heard over the air from Edmonton, Ottawa and Toronto and is a well-known concert performer in Charlottetown, Sydney and Halifax. Her hobbies are gardening, interior decorating and collecting modern crystal.

RUSSIAN RED CROSS DANCE

A dance on the Pavilion, to raise funds for the Russian Red Cross, will be held in about two weeks time, the exact date to be announced later. The need for Red Cross supplies in the besieged towns and on the battle fields of Russia at the present time are very great, and this dance will be your chance to assist in a small measure to meet the urgent need.

Watch for the definite date and plan to be there.

5 Bushel Quota

A five bushel quota on 65 p.c. of the seeded acreage is the wheat delivery basis again this year. This means that with the exceptionally heavy crop, where yields will run up into the 50 bushel per acre column that ment as "aileron" and "tail-planes." Special emphasis is placed on parachutes. This must, of necessity, be a particularly exacting job and requires highly skilled workers, who realize that the life of a pilot is much too important to allow any carelessness in such work.

There are some really lovely flower gardens and lawns in Raymond this summer. It is a real treat for a lover of nature to walk up and down our streets and see the myriads of blooms in flower gardens, backed with shrubs and tree blossoms, and set off by a heavy green carpet of lawn. Congratulations to those whose labor has made this attractiveness in our town.

At Rotary on Monday, J. W. Evans spoke on irrigation and reclamation work and explained the proposed plans of the St. Mary's River project. He showed the smaller projects which would fill the Raymond Reservoir and the Milk River reservoir and would furnish water for an additional 10,000 acres of irrigated land and felt that Southern Alberta should use every effort to get this project built now. He spoke briefly of the new Town supply to be taken from the canal near the flume in the north-east corner of the Town.

Biggest Beet Bonus Payment

The biggest bonus payment in the history of beet raising in Southern Alberta went into the mails Wednesday night, when $297,273, $1 per ton on the 1941 crop went into growers' hands. This represents the third bonus payment on last year's beets, representing 30c., 65c., and now $1.00 per ton, and this added to the initial payment of $6.00 per ton, makes $7.95 received by beet growers, with another two bonuses to be paid as the supply of sugar is sold out.

The opening of the markets to Alberta sugar as far east as Ontario and the high quality of the Alberta product are items that have helped the price and factors which make the future of the industry a great deal brighter for grower and manufacturer. This year's crop of beets looks fine and have come out of the late season rapidly but at once. He spoke briefly of and sunshine started getting in its work. Fields are generally

Veterans Guard To Be Recruited

Cutting Of Winter Wheat Under Way

NEWS NOTES

Roy Overn of the Calgary Power Co. in Magath was here on Monday.

Another rain storm on Saturday refreshed crops and gardens and muddled up the roads.

Gordon Brewerton of Cardston was here Tuesday from Cardston.

The first deliveries of new grain this season in Southern Alberta was some barley reported Wednesday in the district east and north of Taber.

Casey Ralph has had a new porch put on the east end of his home. Will Lamb and Wilson Rolfsen have had the work in charge.

T. Geo. Wood, Manager of Canadian Sugar Factories, Ltd., took the plane from Lethbridge to Vancouver the end of the week on business.

Milk prices have been set now at 11c. per quart in Raymond by order of the Board of Utilities. Read the ad. elsewhere in this issue respecting this.

Read the ads. for details of the visit of the Recruiting party to Raymond, recruiting for the Veterans Guard and Canadians Women's Army Corps. The party will be at the Town Hall.

E. E. Jensen, manager of the local Treasury Branch, and his wife and family are leaving tomorrow for their vacation, most of which will be spent in Waterton Park.

K. Kears is back in the Treasury branch again after his vacation, most of which he spent in Waterton and in the Livingstone mountains, enjoying the fishing, the sunshine and the mosquitoes.

Miss Katherine Paxman was hostess to the gang at a chicken supper at the Paxman farm home on Sunday evening last. Covers were laid for eight and the chicken greatly enjoyed.

Work started Tuesday afternoon of putting the roof on the new cheese factory. The huge trusses stretch across the fifty foot width of the building and make quite a job to hoist into place. Archie Terry is supervising this work.

Our four day drouth was broken by a heavy thunder shower Wednesday night when thunder and lightning put on a great show for a few minutes, being quite close. The shower was local only, raining south to the canal and east about two miles.

Lee and Gordon Brewerton were in Calgary Thursday for a meeting with executives of the motion picture industry. Because of lack of notice of meeting, they travelled by the Trans-Canada Airlines both going and returning.

Last Saturday C. E. Alfred was still waiting for a sunny day or two to haul some hay that had been cut almost a month. Clarence said the hay had been turned so often that when the men started toward the bunches they just rolled over. We hope the fine days of the first of the week enabled him to get this much of his crop up.

Cutting of winter wheat is under way now, and promises extra heavy yields. Grain stands from four to five feet high and is so heavy that some in almost every field has gone down, making it a little difficult to cut. Ripening is uneven and binders are all that have been used so far and it looks as if it would be another few days before combining could commence in winter wheat fields. J. D. Hall has about two hundred acres cut and stacked. Tom Forsyth has a 65 acre field cut and in the stock and the Wolf Creek Hutterite Colony have some of theirs in the stock. One colony is reported to have a 1500 acre winter wheat field that will run 50 bushels or more per acre, and the fields we visited out south Monday looked as if they would thresh out that much; 11 rows of spikes on each head and about 4 to 5 kernels were common and 18 row heads were found occasionally.

Spring wheat, rye and barley are turning now and need dry, warm weather to ripen them. Most all fields have sufficient moisture to finish them, although the growth is so heavy that it requires a great deal of moisture to keep fields from burning. Pasture land and hay fields are lovely and green and the second cutting of alfalfa is going down now and will be going into stack over the week end.

Summerfallow has been a real problem this year, and some fields after just one working are a pretty sorry sight. However, where worked twice they look nice and there should be an ample supply of moisture for next year's crop on land where summerfallow was possible before the weeds got too large and robbed the soil of the moisture which fell.

A. McNeely, local Calgary Power Co. man is holidaying at present, his vacation having commenced the first of this week.

Johnny Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. T.K. Roberts, is home on leave the first time for several months that he has been here. He is looking well.

IT'S YOUR NEXT MOVE

The Cheese Factory, so far as the building is concerned, in connection with the Locker storage system and the Egg grading station is now an accomplished fact. The next move is up to the shareholders and guarantors of milk for the Factory to see that their pledges are kept and that once started the wheels are kept turning. This should not be hard. With the present demand for cheese and the present prices for milk, a few cows will make a very profitable side line for any farmer where cows can be kept.

There is not a fortune in it, and cows demand reasonably good feed and care if quality milk is to be delivered to the Factory. And only if quality milk is supplied can first quality cheese be made, so that the circle works right back to the source of supply, the patient old cud-chewing cow, who gives so much in returns for such a little in care.

Cleanliness and regularity in the care of the dairy herd cannot be too strongly emphasized. We were in the Glenwood Cheese Factory recently, and watched operations for a while, and in conversation with the checker he said, "We have to be very careful about every can of milk we take in, as one bad can will spoil an entire vat of our cheese." These vats hold 9,000 or 10,000 pounds of milk, over 900 gallons, and we thought it would take quite a lot to make any difference there, but he said one off flavor can of milk might spoil the entire make of cheese in that vat. This should be enough to show the need of caution and cleanliness. We looked over the accounts of some of the patrons, and from surplus milk from two and three cows, after making butter for the family, and having all their own milk and cream, these people were receiving cheques from $3 to $5 per week. The really large producers were being paid accordingly, and eight or ten good cows well cared for, were bringing in up to $125 per month.

So, as an agricultural community, and a community where we have every advantage, unless it is in the matter of pasture, we should really be glad to see the Cheese Factory nearing completion, and we should be making our plans to maintain at least what cows we are milking and if possible add a few. At present there is no question of disposing of good quality cheese. It can be sold at the Factory door, and the demand exists for more than can be made. If there were nothing but the Cheese Factory side of it, it would still be a gain day, but when one considers the convenience and economy of locker storage, and the egg grading plant for poultry producers, all at one stop and under one roof, it is really something.

There is one other angle. Organized as a co-operative, it depends upon you and me and every other loyal citizen of the community to do our part in guaranteeing the success of the

MILK AND PASTURES

Each cow in Canada should produce one pound of milk more than usual per day for 200 days to provide all the dairy products required during 1942. In itself this doesn't look like very much and certainly is not an impossible goal. A little extra feed, especially to the better cows, will do the trick. And at the present time the demand for cheese, butter, milk powder, and condensed or evaporated milk is growing all the time and prices to the producer are very favourable.

The months of August and September are two critical months in the dairy production program. By this time pastures are drying up and cows have a tendency to do the same unless extra feed is provided. On good, fresh pasture, no grain is required for cows in medium production. However, when pastures get short and dry, supplemental feed should be provided to maintain the milk flow. Many, if not all farmers, have had the experience of their cows going down in milk during that period only to come up again when the stubble fields were available to the cows. Grain feeding cows on pasture will have the same effect as stubble pasture and will help maintain production.

Other feeds such as freshly cut alfalfa, corn, or almost any green crop will have a beneficial effect during this critical period. With a heavy crop in sight this year it would appear to be good business to use grain liberally to maintain production of dairy products at these are at a satisfactory level of prices. Not only will the grain be well paid for, but you will have the satisfaction of knowing that you have taken another shot at Hitler.

PREPARING FOR NEXT YEAR'S PERENNIAL FLOWERS

Next year's perennial flowers especially the early flowering kind such as iris, columbines, peonies, etc., will produce large blossoms and a grand show of colour if steps are taken now to provide the energy and reserve food materials that it takes for that purpose.

Very often the season is dry during August in most parts of the Canadian prairies during the time when early spring and summer flowering perennials build up their roots and crown buds for the following year's growth. Hence, it is of utmost importance that some moisture is supplied to the plants during this dry spell. The gardener at this Station does not wait for the occasional shower to come along because that is much too risky. If irrigation water is available he soaks the beds of the perennial flowers thoroughly by permitting a small stream to trickle for several hours. More over, if time permits and if material is available a mulch of saw or grass clippings is placed around the plants after they are irrigated. This reduces evaporation and keeps the soil cool near the plants.

No doubt most home gardeners take the precautionary measure of removing the seed pods from their perennial flowering plants. If this has been neglected it would be wise to do it as soon as possible because the production of seed saps the strength and food supplies required for the following season's growth.

It is possible that there are some home gardeners who are planning on planting a few perennials. Experience at this Station has shown that the best time to do this is in late August or early September.

SEEDTIME and HARVEST

An Ounce of Prevention . . .
Prevent insect infestations by a thorough cleaning of your granary NOW. Insects often remain in empty bins. If bins are not cleaned the insects are given a head start in your 1942 storage. It is the duty of every farmer to maintain his grain in the best possible condition. After the grain leaves the farmers' hands it is public property and insect infestations cause national losses.

The following measures are suggested as practical means of keeping farm stored grain in condition:

1. Brush down walls thoroughly. Clean all cracks and remove all grain debris. Sweeping the floor with damp sawdust will remove grain mites and small insects as no other method will do.

2. Sprinkle a small amount of hydrated lime over the entire floor and then carefully sweep to fill all cracks.

3. Where granaries have been infested in the past with grain mites or insects, clean the granary as outlined above and then give the entire inside a coat of whitewash containing one quarter of a pound of lye per gallon of solution (observe usual precautions to avoid lye burns). Allow to dry at least four warm days prior to binning grain.

4. Carefully examine bin after applying these measures and if live insects are still found an insecticidal spray should be used. Information on these sprays may be obtained from the Grain Research Laboratory, Winnipeg, or the Division of Entomology, Ottawa.

5. Repair all leaks to prevent entry of moisture to grain. In some cases a complete lining of moisture proof paper will be necessary.

6. Provide all possible ventilation in your farm bin without allowing moisture to reach the grain.

7. Examine your grain frequently. If you find insects or mites take a sample to your elevator agent or send it to the Grain Research Laboratory, Winnipeg, or the Division of Entomology, Ottawa. — Contributed by: H. E. Gray, Division of Entomology, Department of Agriculture, and Dr. H. N. Smallman, Grain Research Laboratory, Board of Grain Commissioners for Canada.
